

Open Display Security

Turn your point of display into point of sales

SensorLine offers a wide range of electronic sensors and switch sensors. These are both single and double sensors used for simple retail security of everything from drilling machines, shavers, laptops to art and other valuables – you name it!

Our solutions generates sales through security, and give you the power to create superior locking displays.

Features

- RFID operated
- Flexible
- Protecting products efficiently

Benefits

- Fully functional display products
- Time and labor savings
- Sell more. Lose less

